RECIPIENT OF THE GREAT SCOT AWARD

MARK BEAUMONT BEM

Mark Beaumont BEM, record-breaking athlete, adventurer, documentary maker and author, will be the recipient of the evening's Great Scot Award.

On September 18, 2017 Mr. Beaumont became the first person to cycle around the world in less than 80 days, an iconic milestone in human endurance, smashing this 18,000 mile record by a margin of over 40 days, averaging 240 miles a day. Mr. Beaumont has become a household name in the UK through his documentaries about ultra-endurance and adventure, taking viewers to more than 100 countries, into the Arctic, the high mountains and around the Commonwealth, as well as surviving capsized in the mid-Atlantic.

Aside from his athletic and broadcast career, Mr. Beaumont is the Rector of the University of Dundee, Patron and Chair for Orkidstudio, the Honorary President of Scottish Student Sport and Patron for the Saltire Foundation.

Mr. Beaumont is married and lives in Edinburgh with his wife Nicci and two young daughters.

CHARLES RENNIE MACKINTOSH'S

HILL HOUSE

Hill House is internationally recognized as a masterpiece of early modern design. A remarkably complete example of Charles Rennie Mackintosh's unique vision, Hill House's integrated architecture, interiors, and decorative arts reveal a striking mix of Arts & Crafts, Art Nouveau, Scottish Baronial and Japanese influences.

Mackintosh was a revolutionary architect, but the materials and techniques that were at the cutting edge of design in 1902 have not withstood more than a century of Scotland's harsh weather. With persistent water damage threatening Hill House's one-of-a-kind interiors, the National Trust for Scotland risks losing this irreplaceable treasure forever.

The Trust has proposed a bold and creative solution: the construction of a temporary mesh armour around Hill House, offering vital protection from the elements as conservationists set to work restoring the house to its original glory – all in full view of the public. The Box, as it will be known, stays true to Mackintosh's visionary spirit, employing a radical approach to the historic preservation that has the potential to impact the conservation of modern architecture far beyond Scotland.

Today, The National Trust for Scotland Foundation USA is proud to mark the 150th anniversary of Mackintosh's birth by raising funds to save Hill House.

Seven-Night Vacation in Highland Seaside Lodge Overlooking Isle of Skye

Tulach Ard, a traditional 18th-century manse nestled on the shore of Loch Alsh in the Highlands, is the childhood home of architect and designer Lachlan Stewart. Just down the loch from Eilean Donan Castle, the house is uniquely placed on the road to the Isle of Skye. Its exquisite and unrivaled location offers guests a memorable experience of one of the most picturesque spots in Scotland. Lachlan and his wife Annie have since remodeled and modernized the property using furnishings entirely from ANTA, their Scottish interiors company. The house boasts seven luxury double bedrooms and four bathrooms, allowing the property to easily accommodate a party of up to fourteen guests. Step outside and discover the lochs, glens, rare wildlife, and sporting activities surrounding the property, or simply relax in the comfort of Scottish hospitality. This offer is valid for up to 14 guests for one week by mutual agreement between the family and the bidder. Bookings may be made until October 2019 but exclude Christmas and New Year. For an additional cost, your stay may be extended and extra guests can be accommodated in a separate cottage. Value $6,325. Generously donated by Lachlan and Annie Stewart.

Glorious Mar Lodge

At the heart of the Cairngorms National Park lies Mar Lodge Estate, a beautifully restored Victorian sporting lodge set in 72,000 acres of stunning wild Highland landscape. Within its boundaries are remnants of the ancient Caledonian pine forest, heather moorland, juniper scrub and a part of the high Cairngorm plateau. On offer is the beautifully appointed Bynack suite accommodation for five days (Monday through Friday) for up to 17 people. The apartment is self-catered, and caterers will be recommended to you. Up to three days of hind stalking for two to three rifles, depending on selected dates, are included. This offer is available for five weekdays in October or November 2019 by mutual agreement with the bidder. Dates should be agreed by November 2018. Hind stalking requires walking in rough terrain, so those shooting need to be relatively fit. Value: $6,100. Generously donated by the National Trust for Scotland.

Culzean Castle's Buried History

A one-of-a-kind opportunity to view Culzean Castle through the eyes of an archaeologist and experience the Castle's lesser known history. Up to eight guests will stay for three nights in the Eisenhower Hotel, a small, country house-style hotel located on the top floor of Culzean Castle and featuring superb panoramic views across the Firth of Clyde toward the Isle of Arran. You and your guests will be led on private tours of the castle, gardens, and grounds, the highlight of which is a personal guided tour with NTS Head of Archaeology, Derek Alexander. Archaeological sites at Culzean include the lost 18th-century walled garden and the 17th-century smugglers caves. Dinners will be included during your stay (wine and spirits are not included). Dates in 2018/19 by mutual agreement with the bidder. Value $2,000. Generously donated by the National Trust for Scotland.

Gardens of Aberdeenshire

A three-day, two-night weekend awaits a party of up to 16 at one of Scotland's most stunning Baronial buildings, Fyvie Castle in Aberdeenshire. Stay in the Preston Tower apartments, which benefitted recently from new upgraded amenities (and, as of writing, are not haunted!) Receive a private, behind-the-scenes tour of Fyvie's impressive collection of fine art, including one of the largest private collections of Raeburns in the world. The extensive grounds include an 18th-century walled garden that has been redeveloped as a garden of Scottish fruits and vegetables. Spend a day with the National Trust for Scotland's incredible gardening team at Fyvie or another local property such as Pitmedden Garden or Haddo House. Dinner for four will be provided each night in the dining room of the Tower, with a continental breakfast each morning. Meals for groups larger than four may be arranged with the caterer at an additional cost. Dates to be arranged in advance based on availability. Please have your arrangements in place by April 2019. Value $4,300. Generously donated by the National Trust for Scotland.

Celtic Cruising aboard the 4-star Pearl II

A special opportunity to have a spot on the National Trust for Scotland's final chartered cruise, Celtic Homelands, traveling through much-loved islands and celebrated coastlines of Western Britain. From Cornwall to Canna, this autumn cruise combines an imaginative route with impeccable, friendly service and a relaxed atmosphere. On offer is accommodation and meals for two in a double cabin aboard the luxurious Pearl II, a 4-star ship famed for its cuisine, contemporary design and the comfortable familiarity of a home away from home. The ship carries just 400 passengers, all of whom will be friends of the National Trust for Scotland, evoking a warm atmosphere on board. Throughout your journey you will enjoy sophisticated entertainment, access to experts on board who are happy to share their knowledge, absorbing lectures, and high-quality shore excursions. Pearl II is small enough to navigate the waters of small ports or drop anchor off tiny remote islands. The cruise sails in and out of Greenock, Scotland September 2-14, 2018. Please have your reservation in place by August 1, 2018. Value $13,750; Reserve $10,000. Generously donated by the National Trust for Scotland.

Bronze Maquettes of The Kelpies by sculptor Andy Scott

Sculptor Andy Scott works in steel and bronze, combining figurative and equine themes with contemporary techniques to create stunning landmark artworks. The Kelpies are the best-known public artworks in Scotland, welcoming millions of visitors to the small town of Falkirk since their inauguration. The two 100-foot high steel horse heads are the largest equine sculptures in the world, inspired by the cultural heritage of the Clydesdale horses that worked hard to help people along the canals and on the land. These bronze maquettes (scaled to 1:200) are Scott's imagining of the full horse below the water line of the Kelpie's heads. The maquettes are approximately 20 inches high and are a limited edition of 30, signed by the artist. Scott is a graduate of Glasgow School of Art and now works in the United States from his studio in Philadelphia. He creates prominent public artworks for private, corporate, and civic clients, and his prodigious output now numbers in excess of eighty projects across the UK and internationally. Value $12,000; Reserve $8,000. Generously donated by Andy Scott and Hanneke Scott-van Wel.
